Deep Energy Reductions in Existing Homes: Beyond Business as Usual

8/12/09

Linda Wigington, Affordable Comfort

1. Name some reasons why a builder/rater and their clients should attack a package of retrofit options instead of a few isolated measures, and give some “for instances”.
2. Is there anything you will do differently or advise your clients to do differently after hearing this call?
3. In addition to dramatically lowering utility costs and greenhouse gas emissions, list 5 benefits that deep energy reductions would provide.
4. Explain the concept of “asset performance vs. operational performance” and why it would be so important to the Thousand Home Challenge and “true” zero net energy homes.
